

Squadron Six Legacy Group

Volume 3, Issue 1
August 2014

Outfit Performance

Savage Six, Flying Tigers is an outfit to be reckoned with on the Quad! The outfit is growing in number and recognition. This academic year marks many significant accomplishments; accomplishments in academics and leadership. The guidon will sport many new ribbons and flags.

The Robert M. Gates Award for Public Service will be seen next to the guidon and each cadet will proudly display the accompanying cord. The fish class had the highest fish GPA in the Corps. Squadron Six placed 4th in Bloody Cross, won the annual paintball challenge, top three in march-ins, and numerous other intramural victories!

The outfit has adopted a motto to reflect the living legacy of Squadron Six and former cadets. Leadership is currently working to determine the best way to capture the historical names associated with Six to recognize the lasting influence those that led in the past and the bright future for Six.

SUPPORT

Please know that the outfit is aware of your support and they strive to honor your contributions by performing on and off the Quad.

---

Inside this issue:

CO BIO	2
1ST Butt BIO	2
Leadership	3

---

---

A&M encourages volunteerism, encourages being one of a thousand points of light, helping others... and it comes naturally to Aggies. - George Bush

---

Matthew Trevino Commanding Officer '15

An electrical engineering major and Air Force contract commissioning in May 2016, Matthew Trevino has been chosen as the 2014-2015 Squadron Six CO. Trevino came to A&M and joined the Corps mainly because of the great influence of his grandpa, Gil Trevino '42, a corps member who fought in the Battle of Iwo Jima and later became an Army Colonel and a veterinary professor at A&M. "I am his living legacy, and I hope to emulate him as much as possible. I am very excited for this year, as I am new to the outfit," says Trevino whose fish and pisshead years were spent in Talon 12. His butt year was spent on Corps Staff. Trevino is a member of the Fish Drill Team, Arnold Air Society and the Nichols Rising Leaders Conference. "This year I look forward to returning to an outfit and helping develop the next generation of service-oriented leaders. I am incredibly proud to be joining an outfit that has displayed such great success, despite the fact that it is still relatively new. I hope to continue this success in academics, athletics, and service leadership development. I have an amazing team to work with, and I look forward to accomplishing our goals this year."

- Trevino '15

Jackie Kingsley '16—The First Butt

I am an international studies major, from Katy, Texas, with a focus in communications and media and plan on using these skills in my professional career. I completed Air Force field training this past summer and plan to commission in the United States Air Force after graduation.

My hobbies include taking long walks on the Quad, whipping out, and staying off the grass. I joined the Corps of Cadets to gain as much leadership training as possible before entering into a career in the military and my experiences so far have exceeded my expectations. I have learned so much from my upperclassmen and fellow classmates over the course of the past two years. My family has a rich history with not only the Corps but with Squadron 6 as well. Both my great-uncle Elmer Christopherson '41 and Uncle Scott Kingsley '86, former Squadron Six CO, were proud Aggies and cadets. I hope to continue the family legacy and leave my mark on Squadron Six, as the best damn outfit on campus!"

- Kingsley '16

Send in your favorite Savage Six Good Bull Story!

Squadron Six Legacy Group

The Legacy group is working to establish a 'Career Skills Leadership Conference'. The inaugural conference will be held in Dallas with a date in January to be determined. The conference is modeled after similar programs offered by other outfits and organizations. This will be an excellent program featuring subject matter experts sharing their experiences. There is nothing more important than developing future leaders. That is the mission of the Corps of Cadets and the Legacy Group. In early September, we will provide more details and ask you to financially support this event and the next generation of America's leaders!

As mentioned in previous newsletters, Squadron Six is designated as a Government Service Outfit. Such designation attracts individuals that seek to perform public service after graduation within the Armed Forces, Law Enforcement, FBI, and etc. The details are being finalized and we welcome any input you may have to make this a successful endeavor. The conference will be modeled around similar activities conducted by other outfits.

The current leadership of the SSLG consists of, Jamie Whitman '84, Steven Solka '86, Craig Crismon '86, and Joe Fix '93. We can not over-emphasize that the SSLG is any individual that contributes to the mission statement of the SSLG. The leadership of the SSLG is designed to be a rolling slate of individuals. Those interested in serving Squadron Six are encouraged to contact SSLG at info@savagesixflyingtigers.com.

SSLG Mission

Provide all encompassing support to Squadron Six leveraging strong ties to private business, government, and military leaders; uniting current and former Squadron Six cadets for the purpose of promoting Squadron Six as a respected, enduring, and integral part of Texas A&M University and the Corps of Cadets.