Hanging around the library

Around 10:30 p.m. Friday, a Ford F-250 wrecked into a light pole near the Lincoln Parish Library on North Trenton Street and was hung vertically from the guide wires. The driver and the passenger were not injured, and the Ruston Fire Department helped them get out of the truck by using the platform from the department's new ladder truck. The driver, whose name was not available as of this morning, was charged with DWI and careless operation.
